Review the Question and Examine the Reference: Carefully read and understand the question. Carefully read each of the reference provided for the question:

Consider the following error categories that could lead to an incorrect response:

1. Incorrect Entity (Wrong answer)
2. Too many Entities (Extra responses beyond the correct answers)
3. Underspecification (Incomplete answer)
4. Overspecification (Correct answer but with additional incorrect information)
5. Answers not in response

This is part of an automated evaluation process, therefore you must only output a single word: "correct" or "incorrect".

Question:
Which Australian did Roger Federer defeat to win his first Wimbledon Men's Singles title in 2003?

References:
MARK PHILIPPOUSIS
MARK PHILIPPOUSIS

Model Response:
Mark Philippoussis

Evaluation (correct/incorrect):